Murderer In Dual Crime Identified By Woman

Enters The Hall Case

Wilbur A. Mott, veteran lawyer of Essex County, N. J., by the direction of the Supreme Court, has been appointed deputy attorney general in complete charge of the Hall-Mills murder case.

NEW BRUNSWICK, October 26.—(By The Associated Press)—Mrs. Jane Gibson, pig raiser, who claims to have witnessed the murder of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills today told a newspaper man that she had identified the man who she says shot the rector, as well as identifying the woman who she asserts was with the murderer.

Mrs. Gibson, who was on the Phillips farm the night of the double murder looking for corn thieves and who claims to have heard the murderer's name called by his woman companion, said that she did not know the identity of the slayer at the time, but that she recently had recognized him in the prosecutor's office in New Brunswick.

Sure of Recognition
Mrs. Gibson, who it was learned yesterday, had told the authorities the name of the murderer's companion, said today that she had once met her at a rummage sale and instantly had recognized her at the scene of the murder on the Phillips farm. She added that she had seen her since the double killing and was sure of her recognition.

Amplifying her previous story, Mrs. Gibson said she rode on a milk truck from her home into DeBrussey's lane following a wagon without lights, which she thought was driven by corn thieves.

She said she saw the wagon turn into Easton Avenue towards New Brunswick. The lane intersects Easton Avenue beyond "Lover's Lane," on which the two bodies were found. Just at the intersection, Mrs. Gibson said, she saw an old style automobile standing in DeBrussey's lane. Beside the machine, she declared, were a man and a woman, and she stopped her milk about 40 feet from them. Just then, her story goes, "another machine turned into the lane and the flood of light from its headlights fell upon the two persons beside the old automobile."

The second automobile, she said, backed out of the lane and sped away on Easton Avenue. Mrs. Gibson says, while its lights were thrown on the old machine she recognized the man and woman. She says they both stepped out of the light into the shadow before the second automobile turned around.

Wore Gray Coat
Mrs. Gibson said today that the woman wore a gray coat extending to her knees. She says the man had a heavy dark moustache, bushy eyebrows and was of a heavy build. "When I went to the prosecutor's office," the farm-woman said today, "I saw this man and recognized him as the one who was standing beside the car."

Mrs. Gibson says that after the second car had withdrawn the man and woman crossed DeBrussey's lane and went into the fields in a general direction of the crab apple tree.

Judge Mott, the new special state prosecutor, came to New Brunswick today and summoned every principal in the case to the court house so that he might personally hear their stories.

Principals Questioned
Mrs. Hall, widow of the rector; James Mills, husband of the woman who was killed; Charlotte Mills, their daughter; Henry and Wm. Stevens, brothers of Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Gibson, all will be questioned.

Mrs. Gibson in continuing her story, said that instinctively she followed the man and woman who crossed the field.

"When I turned into the dirt road," she said, "I lost one of my moccasins. I dismounted to get it. When I had put it on and climbed back upon my milk's back, the couple had disappeared."

"A few moments later I heard loud voices in the direction of the crab-apple tree. I saw a man and a woman each with a flashlight. They threw beams on another man and woman. Then out of the darkness I heard more loud talking as if all were quarrelling. Then I heard a scream."

Heard Woman Shout
"I heard a woman's voice scream in horror."

Mrs. Gibson said the woman who screamed uttered a name and shouted:

"Please, please."

"And then," said Mrs. Gibson, "I put my heels into my Jenny mule and went on home."

Mrs. Gibson fixes the time of the shooting at 9:30 p. m. She said the bus from New Brunswick to Millstone passed her door about 9:11, and that she started out to follow the corn thieves just after the bus went by.

New Witness

Mrs. Elsie Barnhardt, sister of Mrs. Gibson, who is reported to have told the authorities how her sister had talked of her friendship with the Rev. E. W. Hall, the other victim of the double murder.

NO TRACE OF WOMAN PO NZI'S FORTUNE

POMEROY, October 26.—(By The Associated Press)—Attorneys for Mrs. Kraus today withdrew from the case. One of them was Congressman E. M. Foster, of Athens. They declared they would no longer defend Mrs. Kraus because it was evident Mrs. Kraus had not told them the entire truth. Mrs. Kraus was reported in a hysterical condition in her cell in the county jail today.

POMEROY, October 26.—(By The Associated Press)—Thorough search of the Kraus home here last night by county officials failed to reveal any trace of the $150,000 in cash which Mrs. Susan Kraus, the financial Nemesis of Meigs county folks, had reported was hidden there.

Sheriff Reeves, Prosecutor Davis, Judge Miller and attorneys interested in the case went to the Kraus home early last evening. It was learned today, and made a search for the money reported hidden there, but after a search of an hour and a half, could find no trace of it. They then went to the county jail, got Mrs. Kraus and her husband and returned to the house to continue the search.

Mrs. Kraus led the party to the cellar and to a secret hole in the cellar wall. The hole was empty.

"Oh, my God, the money is gone. What won't happen next," Mrs. Kraus is alleged to have exclaimed.

Mrs. Kraus, the 63-year-old wife of a coal miner, is under arrest on charges of forgery and embezzlement and is alleged by officials to have fled Meigs county residents out of thousands of dollars.

Some reports place the amount as high as $300,000. Her husband and two sons also are under arrest.

According to attorneys and officials, the woman obtained the money as "loans" on unsecured notes, and after she had promised a large rate of interest.

TOKIO, October 26.—(By The Associated Press)—Troops of the Red Army representing the far eastern republic of Siberia were in complete possession of Vladivostok today. The last of the Japanese soldiers evacuated the city yesterday after handing over to the invading Reds an inventory of the arms left behind and the keys to the warehouses containing them. Only a Japanese staff captain remained to complete the transfer of military stores.

Swamp Girl Found Guilty

WHITE CLOUD, MICH., October 26.—(By The Associated Press)—Mrs. Meha Hodel, 20-year-old swamp country girl, was found guilty of first degree murder by a circuit court jury here today in connection with the death of her invalid father-in-law, David Hodel. The jury had deliberated a little more than two hours.

Mrs. Hodel was accused of having poisoned her father-in-law, who lived in her home because "he was such a care." Hodel died last winter.

The case was the outgrowth of investigations into the alleged slaying of Hodel's son, Ronnie Hodel, at his farm home near here last May. During the investigation Mrs. Hodel is alleged to have confessed she poisoned the elder Hodel and also was concerned in the killing of Ronnie, her husband. She later repudiated the alleged confession however.

Mrs. Hodel, her mother, Mrs. Allen Dudgeon, and her brothers Lee and Herman Dudgeon are charged jointly with having been implicated in the death of Ronnie Hodel. The women are alleged to have beaten the victim on the head with a rolling pin while he lay sleeping. The brothers are charged with having attempted to cover up the crime by hanging the body in a barn to give the appearance of suicide.

In a band of farmers were said to have Dudgeon brothers by hanging them from the limb of a tree for a short time. The two implicated in a farm hand, but later repudiated the alleged confessions, saying they were forced.

It was announced today that the trial of Mrs. Dudgeon on a charge of slaying her son-in-law would begin here November 12.

WELLSBURG, W. VA., October 26.—(By The United Press)—John Kaminski, charged with first degree murder, was a lieutenant in the army of union miners that marched on Cliftonville from Adella, Pa., last July, the prosecution declared in the opening argument of his trial here today. The Cliftonville riot in which Sheriff Duval and seven union miners were slain, was carefully planned, the prosecution charged. It was announced the state will attempt to prove he went to Adella from Canton, Ohio, for the express purpose of leading the army of miners. Held For Brutal Slaying Of His Third Wife

CLEVELAND, O., October 26.—(By The Associated Press)—Henry J. Burns was booked on a charge of murder here early today, charged with the brutal killing of his third wife, whose mutilated body was found almost nude in a shallow grave in a woods, seven miles west of Painesville, late yesterday afternoon.

Burns, who lives in Cleveland, was formally charged with first degree murder after an all-night grilling here by police.

Burns admits he was in the woods near the scene of the killing just before the body was found, according to police, admits he saw his wife's blood stained clothing scattered about on the ground, but denies all knowledge of the crime.

The backs of his hands were torn as though a woman's finger nails had gouged him as she sought to fight him off, but he told the police the wounds were sustained when he fell from a tree.

He was taken into custody here late yesterday afternoon on information furnished by Lake county authorities.

Just before the murder charge was placed against him, he was confronted with a photograph of his wife, Mrs. Hazel Burns, 29, taken as she lay in the morgue at Painesville, her face crushed past torn, her nose fractured and her right eye marked by a bullet hole.

The prisoner clapped his hands over his eyes, shrunk back in his chair, and cried out:

"My God, I wish I was where she is now."

Burns admitted his third wife, the victim of the murder, had accused him of paying attention to other women, police declare, and he confessed their marital life had been turbulent for the past few months.

Shortly after the charge of murder was placed against him, Burns was taken to Painesville in charge of Lake county authorities.

During the morning, he is to be taken to the scene of the crime and questioned there. Later he will be taken to the Lake county morgue, where the body of the slain woman is being held, and subjected to further questioning.

Diva Bares Other Woman In The Case

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—(By The Associated Press)—Superior court records here today revealed the first legal skirmish in the divorce action instituted by Floyd Glatzbach, chauffeur, against his wife, Madame Margaret Matzenauer, prima donna.

Madame Matzenauer, who is appearing here in concert, filed a deposition denying her husband's charges of infidelity. The diva drew into the case Lottie Fruties of Carmel, Cal., in whom Glatzbach was said to have manifested too great interest.

To substantiate her charges, attorneys produced a letter which had been intercepted by Madame Matzenauer in which the Carmel woman up-braided Glatzbach for making her suffer and threatened to reveal an intimate relationship.

Madame Matzenauer admits in the affidavit that she asked her husband to look up her dress because she had dismissed her maid for their honeymoon at Glatzbach's request. But, she contends, such services are performed by nearly every husband.

After the separation, Madame Matzenauer asserts that she wired Glatzbach to meet her in Chicago in an effort to settle their troubles. This, however, proved unsuccessful, causing Madame Matzenauer to suffer a nervous collapse after Glatzbach threatened to give an exclusive story to newspapers dealing with their married life, she said.

The divorce trial has been set for November 14. Glatzbach was not at the hearing although he was seen in the court house corridor.

PORTLAND, ORE., October 26.—(By The Associated Press)—With the local strike committee of the Industrial Workers of the World sending out telegraphic requests to Chicago headquarters to cancel reported instructions to members to invade Portland, and with evacuation of the Portland I. The Portland I. W. W. strike committee has issued a statement which was incorporated in the telegram to Chicago headquarters in the effect that the situation is "well in hand" and that all except nine men had been freed from jail. It was stated that the police were ordered away when it was found that they had no legal right to hold the hall.

Mayor Baker declared in his statement that there was no let-up in the campaign on trouble-makers.

The manifesto declares it will be the government's earnest aim, if returned, to give whole-hearted and practical support to the League of Nations, to fulfill the obligations Great Britain has undertaken abroad but not to extend her commitments, and to maintain the friendship and good understanding with the United States.

Mr. Bonar Law in the manifesto said it was the Unionist party's purpose, if the self-governing dominions approved, to summon an economic conference in an effort to discover how the vast trade which the resources of the empire made possible could be developed by mutual co-operation.

Prince Held For Disaster

ATHENS, October 26.—(By The Associated Press)—The newspapers announce that Prince Andrew, brother of former King Constantine was arrested yesterday at Corfu on the charge that he contributed to the disaster suffered by the Greek army in Asia Minor. He will be brought to Athens on a destroyer and interned in the palace.

The arrest yesterday of General Stratios followed the publication of the revolutionary committee's decree establishing a tribunal to try political and military prisoners in connection with the defeat of Greek forces in Asia Minor. At the same time three civil leaders were arrested, George P. Baltazzi, former foreign minister; M. Stalos, once minister of the interior, and M. Boziki, former governor of Thrace.

Prince Andrew, commander of one of the corps of the Greek army on the Smyrna front. After the disaster to the Greek forces on that front he was sent to Corfu, saying he expected to proceed to London to join his wife, formerly Princess Alice of Battenberg. On Wednesday an Athens message stated that an investigator had been sent to Corfu by the commission in charge of the inquiry into the Greek debacle to question Prince Andrew regarding the charge that while he was at the head of his army corps he refused to execute an order thus contributing to the disaster.

To Release Foreign Ship

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Release of the Canadian schooner Emerald seized by prohibition officers last week eight miles off New York was decided today by high treasury officials.

While they still awaited a final report on the seizure against which the British government has protested, officials said preliminary investigation indicated that there was not sufficient evidence of intent to violate the American prohibition law to warrant the holding of the craft. There was no evidence, it was stated, that the schooner had established communication with the shore by means of its own boats or crew. Seizure by prohibition agents under direction of a prohibition officer was made after a motor boat had been found near the schooner with packages of liquor on board bearing the same markings as liquor packages on the Emerald. The British protest has not yet been answered, state department officials desiring to await more complete reports from prohibition and customs officials.

Secretary of the Interior under Woodrow Wilson, Josephus Daniels, who sat in the Wilson cabinet as Secretary of the Navy telegraphed the Associated Press today a story of the events which he said had led up to the adoption of the convoy system of passage of American ships early in 1917.

Mr. Daniels' message sent from High Point, N. C. made particular reference to a statement in one of the Lane letters saying that at a cabinet meeting on February 25, 1917, "Daniels said we must not convey—that it would be dangerous." The letter also attributed to President Wilson a suggestion that "this country was not willing that we should take any risks of war."

Daniels Kept Diary.
"Fortunately, I kept a diary in these days," said Mr. Daniels' telegram. "Here is exactly what happened at that cabinet meeting in February, before we had entered the war: President Wilson turned to me and asked, 'Daniels, why have the British not convoyed their ships?'"

"In reply I informed him that the policy of the British admiralty was against the convoy, that after long experience in the war the merchant captains preferred to take their chances sailing singly than in convoy formation, and that they regarded it more dangerous in U-boat zones to sail in company under convoy than for each merchant ship to go on its own. I added that some of our naval officers of high rank held this same view. That was the only use I made of the word 'dangerous.'"

"The President replied that he believed the British admiralty was wrong and those American naval officers who agreed with them were also wrong, and that the British ought to long ago convoyed their ships."

Told It To Sims.
A few weeks later, I think it was the last day of March, 1917, or about that date, when before the United States entered the war in giving the British assistance, I told him that President Wilson had long believed that the allies ought to use the convoy and did not agree with our own naval officers who took the same position that the British admiralty and the other allies had practiced. Shortly after his arrival in London Admiral Sims presented President Wilson's views on the convoy to Admiral Jellicoe and a short time thereafter the convoy system was put in practice with good results.

Gin Crews On Ships.
"Our navy placed gin crews on merchant ships before the United States entered the war. The navy also furnished a gunners crew for such ships. It was dangerous and the hardest sort of service. Neither before war declared nor during the war did I hesitate to adopt and carry out any policy no matter how dangerous that promised protection and the story of how the navy dared perils and dangers proves this statement."

Marks Of Heaven And Hell Upon Every Soul, Evangelist Birney Tells Bigelow Audience

"There is no such thing as a massless soul in the universe," declared Evangelist George Hugh Birney, in his sermon last night in Bigelow church.

Then, Dr. Birney proceeded to illustrate the personal ownership of God on the one hand, and of Satan, on the other hand. "We boast of our freedom, but our only freedom is that of our choice of Masters, for 'No man can serve two masters.' It is not by chance that Jesus always speaks of His own as bond servants.

"The bible reveals the fact that the real conflict between heaven and hell is being carried on by the spiritual forces that lie back of the world's consciousness. This life is penetrated by that conflict and every one of us is caught inevitably into its coils. Our only option is the side upon which we choose to fight."

"The Marks of Heaven or Hell are upon every soul, for they are the marks of ownership and identification. During the war every soldier was compelled to wear the uniform of his country, for the same reasons. The nations could not afford any uncertainty as to where every man belonged. Many a man lost his life by venturing to wear the uniform of the enemy, as a spy. There are no spy uniforms in the battle against sin. There is no neutrality between righteousness and sin. We either belong to Jesus or Satan, and are in personal obedience to the one or the other."

"Nothing but the personal control of the Devil can explain the profanations of sin. We say a man acts like the Devil, and we are but stating a plain fact. On the other hand, sainthood is the proof of the personal control of the Savior, by which the whole life is brought into a perfect obedience to the will of God."

"If we bear the marks of Jesus, the world will know to whom we belong. We are identified by our likeness to the Master. The same things that identified Him as the Son of God, will reveal His servants as belonging to Him."

"The branding iron I see heated white hot in the fires of hell, is searing the marks of Satan upon the multitudes. And nothing but the blood of Christ can erase that brand, and substitute therefore the marks of the Lord Jesus."

"The value of the continued evangelistic appeal consists largely in the fact that only in such ways can the

As a climax to the efforts of the "Drys" in Scioto county to defeat the "wet" amendment a quartet of Portsmouth preachers and several other fire speakers will spend every afternoon and evening next week in an effort to cover the entire county in singing, speaking and distributing literature as a means of stirring the county to the supreme urgency of the situation and the polling of a full dry vote among the women as well as the men voters.

Miss Dolly Wise

See to here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Mr. Logan Sanitarium, Chillicothe—Dear Dolly—Will you please tell us what has happened to Oley Walker in the "Old Home Town" cartoon? Please let us know at once as we are terribly worried about him. And, Dolly, when were ice cream cones invented?

THANK YOU.
Oley couldn't stand the kidding of the small town guys when the dashing young widow went back on him and he left for parts unknown. I think he'll be back ere long. Ice cream cones came into existence about twenty-five years ago, but they did not become popular until about 1905, if memory serves me right.

Dear Dolly—I have some questions to ask you. I have a girl friend who is in Charleston, W. Va. We want to get married Christmas and don't want our people to know about it. We are both of age. Could we get a license in Ashland and get married there? Does the girl have to be with the boy when they get the license? How much does the license cost? What does the Justice of the Peace (Squire) generally charge for his service?

Now, Dolly, if you will give me the information I want I will be much obliged.

"DUTCH."
You can get married in Ashland, but the girl will have to go with you to get the license. I don't know what they charge up there for marrying, or for the license. They will probably print your license and the Charleston and Portsmouth papers will copy it, so you won't be putting anything over on your relatives and friends. I never did believe in secret marriages. If you are both of age, your marriage is your own affair, so why try to keep it a secret. You will have to make it known sooner or later, and there is no time like the present, or the time you get married.

Dear Miss Wise—Will ivory turn yellow if it is washed in soap and water?
BELLIE.
So far as I know, it won't turn yellow. Did you know that you could buy a paste at a toilet counter for cleaning ivory?

Dear Dolly—I want to thank you for the good advice you gave that long-ago blue-eyed, sixteen-year-old girl a few nights ago. I am the mother of the boy she is going with and he is my only support. His father is dead and I do not want him to get married. He is going with that girl against my will. I have done everything I can to keep him from going with her, but it is no use. He goes to see her almost every night. I have raised my son up a good boy and I want him to stay that way. Dolly, what shall I do about it? Please give me your best advice.
WORRIED MOTHER.

The girl can't get a license until she is 18 without the consent of her parents or guardian, and I don't think they will consent to the marriage of a mere child. They are both making a very serious mistake. They are probably going together for spite or just because you don't want them to keep company. If they get married they will live of each other in a short time and then, separate, like all young couples who rush headlong into marriage without knowing the meaning of the word. The girl doesn't know much, but your son is old enough to know what he is doing.

Dear Dolly—I would like to say a few words (through your column) to the man who hails from New Jersey, and signs himself "Pat." He sent a letter to you a short time ago, telling of a love affair he had with a girl from the West. He said she had written him three letters a week for nine months, and he had only written two in return. He must be blind if he can't see that the girl is head over heels in love with him. Pat could live on any street the rest of his days if he would accept the young lady and her $10,000. If you don't want her, just tell her about me, or tell me about her, and I will do the rest. I have been looking for a girl like that for some time. Send me her name and address, or give it to Dolly, and I will take her off your hands. I'd be tickled to death to have a girl like that. CLARENCE.
Better send me your name, and address in case Pat decides to make the transfer.

JIM—Life's too short to read a long love letter like the one you sent me. I glanced over it and found it to be a conglomeration of the love letters that have been printed in the Sunday Times and Sun, and I suppose every other girl has read it or one similar to it. If you want to write a love letter, make it short and snappy. Just as you would talk, and for the love of Pete don't copy any of the stereotyped ones you see in papers and books and expect any girl to believe they are original. If a lover would send me a letter like the one you sent, I sure would think he was a fit subject for the nut factory. If you want your letter back, just let me know and I'll mail it to you. I imagine it took you about half a day to write it.

TIMES READER, The Brick, Ky.—As I said before, people have a right to think as they please, when it comes to politics and vote as they please, but when it comes to arguing politics, I would rather you would do it in the corner grocery, than in this column. If I would print your opinion, I would have to print the opinion of dozens of others, and I can't do that.

SOCIETY

The Misses Vere and Margaret Crawford presided as hostesses at an exquisitely beautiful, but very informal tea this afternoon at their handsome home on Hutchins street.

Large baskets and vases of pink and white pom chrysanthemums were cleverly placed in decorating the lower floor of the attractive home and furnished an appropriate setting for the fifty matrons and maids who called during the reception hours.

At the door the guests were met by two dainty little maidens, Lida Anderson and Anna Grace Spencer, and in the large living room they were graciously received by the two charming hostesses. Mrs. Warwick W. Anderson invited the callers into the dining-room during the first hour, while Mrs. D. A. Herndt presided at the coffee urn. During the second hour, Mrs. Wells A. Hutchins invited the guests into the dining-room and Mrs. W. O. Felt had charge of the urn. A charming roster of young girls served as aids in the dining-room and passed the dainty refreshment plates in the most approved manner. These included the Misses Nancy Grimes, Elizabeth Nye, Helen Yeloy and Persis Bannan.

The Misses Crawford will entertain with an informal bridge party tomorrow afternoon.

One of the most delightful and amusing of the Halloween festivities was the Masquerade Carnival given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Busch of Grandview avenue, for the pleasure of their son, Charles, Jr.

The home was beautifully decorated in keeping with the Halloween season, frightful witches, black cats and ghosts peeping from their spooky hideouts as the guests appeared.

After a mask promenade through the various rooms, prizes were awarded to Miss Marian Hartledge and Noah Grey for wearing the most unique costumes, and Lynn Warden as being the most comical.

The young folks spent an evening of much merriment and pleasure including in the various Halloween games and music, after which dainty refreshments of ice and cake, with tiny favors of pumpkin heads, were served to the following guests: Misses Fanny Skaggs, Helen Stewart, Helen Roth, Phyllis Votey, Helen King, Elizabeth Achley, Mildred Keller, Katherine Kleinke, Margaret King, Phyllis Sheridan, Ruth Bertram, Annalou Montz, Jean Sheridan, Marian Hartledge, Geneva Farmer, Lucile Parks, Edna Boyd, Mary Mitchell.

Hat Aims to Please

The sterling virtues of economy, practicality and durability were not emphasized in this hat, or could it be induced to take a decided stand on the large or small issue. It merely aimed to be becoming. Black lace, tulle and black satin, helped it achieve its end.

Mrs. P. W. Hicks and daughter, Genevieve, of 1621 Third street, are spending the week-end with friends in Huntington, W. Va.

Mr. Elmer Zurell and sister, Miss Edna Zurell, and Miss Maudie Hutchison have returned to their home at Pleasant Ridge, Ohio, after a visit with Mrs. Anna Childs of 825 Eleventh street. They made the round trip via motor.

Mrs. Fred Rindell of Second street proved to be a very charming hostess last evening when she entertained about twenty of her friends at a delightful Halloween party. The rooms were decorated in the Halloween colors of orange and black. Two ghosts, a huge black cat, a fortune-teller's booth, bolting for apples and plucking the tail on the donkey, provided merriment for the guests.

Mrs. William Robertson received the prize in the donkey contest. Miss Mary Thane was awarded the prize for the most ludicrous costume, and the prize for wearing the daintiest and most fanciful costume was given to Miss Mary Snyder.

At the close of the evening refreshments of doughnuts, hot coffee and salted peanuts were served to Mrs. George Phillips, Mrs. Mary Turner, Mrs. Bess Cooper, Mrs. John Snyder, Mrs. Carl Heller, Mrs. Harry Brandel, Mrs. William Robertson, the Misses Mary Hancock, Lena Wilkerson, Edna Payne, Mary Snyder, Mae Dill, Helen Moore, Clara Hans and Ottilia Robertson.

Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

THE next place the Twins came to was the house of Jack Turner. Jack was standing at his front door.

"Hello," said he, when he saw the Twins.

"Hello," said Nancy and Nick. "We are hunting for Mother Goose's magic broomstick. Do you know where it is?"

"No," answered Jack. "I don't like brooms. I only like raisin pie and plum cake and fruit pudding. Would you like to have some?"

"Yes, thank you," answered Nancy, "but we'll have to hurry now and we can't stay. We thought you might have the broom to sweep up your crumbs."

"Well, as to that," replied Jack, "I never make any, for I eat all mine. But you might ask Tom Tucker."

The Twins thanked him and the Green Shoes whisked them off to Tom's house.

As usual, he was eating bread and butter.

The Trinity Home Missionary Society will have a rummage sale at 1118 Eleventh street tomorrow. Included in the sale will be an iron bed and springs and clothing of all kinds.

A Truly Youthful Skin Easy to Have

The complexion may acquire that girlish flush, the real essence of physical beauty, only by means of the capillary circulation. In advancing age, anemia, lowered vitality, etc., the circulation is poor; the complexion appears pale, sallow or faded. If however, the lifeless, sear skin is removed, the skin beneath, being that much nearer the capillaries, exhibits a healthier, rosier bloom; the new complexion is youthful in fact as well as in appearance.

It will be glad news to many that such a complexion may be easily obtained — the offensive outer cuticle safely, painlessly removed by the use of ordinary macerated wax. The wax, procurable at any drug store and easily used, is used at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning. It completely absorbs the sear, sallow, muddy or blotchy surface skin, minute blemishes, wrinkles coming off day by day until all of it is gone. Then the exquisitely, pure complexion is in evidence — a result which astoundingly every one who tries this simple treatment. Advertisement.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

IN Egypt a man never sees the face of the woman he marries until after the wedding ceremony. She is always heavily veiled and very seldom appears outside her home.

Often the man entrusts his choice of wife to another, who conducts matrimonial negotiations for a price. There are women who make a profession of matchmaking.

Kellogg's Corn Flakes snap up fussy appetites something wonderful!

No coaxing needed to tempt family folks and visitors folks to eat a plenty—not when there's a big pitcher of milk or cream and lots of Kellogg's Corn Flakes—and maybe some fruit—ready to tickle fickle palates!

Kellogg's are unlike any corn flakes you ever ate! They're the original kind—they ought to be best! No other corn flakes are so deliciously flavored; no other corn flakes retain such wonder-crispness till eaten! And Kellogg's are never leathery or tough or hard to eat!

Kellogg's are always a delight to serve—and a treat to eat at any meal! In fact, you'll never know how good corn flakes can be until you know KELLOGG'S! Do more than ask for corn flakes—say, KELLOGG'S CORN FLAKES! The kind in the RED and GREEN packages!

Also makers of KELLOGG'S KRUMBLES and KELLOGG'S BRAN, cooked and branched.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES

"What are you digging for?" one of the men in the crowd asked Jack, but the little adventurer went right on with his work and didn't answer. Then the bystanders started to whisper among themselves. This made Jack more nervous than ever.

Shortly the watchers started to leave. Jack tried to appear unconcerned and kept throwing dirt out of the hole he was digging in. As one of the men walked away he turned to a boy and said, "All right, you stay here and watch him."

This made Jack mad, so when the man had gone, he jumped out of the hole and rushed up to the boy. "What are you waiting for?" demanded Jack. "And what are you standing here staring at me for?" The boy was scared and refused to answer. Continued.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The savage battle for possession of the Flaming Jewel had reached a tense point in the hunting camp of the Adirondacks where MIKE CLINCH has hoarded the gem as the sole means of giving his beautiful step-daughter, EYE STRAYER, the education of a lady.

This priceless gem was first stolen from the refugee, COUNTESS OF ESTHONIA by the great international thief, QUINTANA. Clinch stole the jewel from Quintana, and now Quintana has returned and stops at nothing to win back the gem.

For love of the countess, JAMES DARRAGH, under the name of HAL Smith, is trying to get the jewel. Fighting alongside of Clinch's men against Quintana, Smith, dressed as the gangman Salzar, dashes into the camp and takes the jewel packet from Quintana. He rides away, and Eve, with her lover, TROOPER STORMONT, escape from Quintana by swimming the lake. Then Eve shows she has held the jewels in her mouth. She believed she had given Quintana an empty case.

Go on With the Story
EPISODE EIGHT
Cup and Lip
CHAPTER I

TWO miles beyond Clinch's Dump, Hal Smith pulled Stormont's horse to a walk. He was tremendously excited.

With naive sincerity he believed that what he had done on the spur of the moment had been the only thing to do.

By snatching the Flaming Jewel from Quintana's very fingers he had diverted that vindictive hand's fury from Eve, from Clinch, from Stormont, and had centered it upon himself.

More than that, he had sown the seeds of suspicion among Quintana's own people. They never could discover Salzar's body. Always they must believe that it was Nicolas Salzar and no other who so treacherously robbed them, and who rode away in a rain of bullets, shaking the embazoned morocco case above his masked head in triumph, derision and defiance.

At the recollection of what had happened, Hal Smith drew bridle, and, sitting his saddle there in the false dawn, threw back his handsome head and laughed until the fading stars overhead swam in his eyes through tears of sheerest mirth.

Smith sat his saddle, thinking, beginning to be sobered now by the inevitable reaction which follows excitement and mirth as relentlessly as cure dogs the horseman.

He thought of Riga; and of the Red Terror; of murder at noon-day, and outrage by night. He remembered his only encounter with a lovely child—once Grand Duchess of Esthonia—then a destitute refugee in silken rags.

What a day that had been. . . . Only one day and one evening. . . . And never had he been so near to love in all his life. . . .

As the false dawn began to fade, he loosened his hunting coat and cartridge sling, drew from his shirt-bosom the morocco case.

It bore the arms and crest of the Grand Duchess of Theodorica of Esthonia.

His fingers trembled slightly as he pressed the jeweled spring. It opened on an empty case.

In the sudden shock of horror and astonishment, his convulsive clutch on the spring started a tiny bell ringing. Then, under his very nose, the empty tray slid aside revealing another tray underneath.

He set it down with a gasp. A rainbow of glitter streamed from the unset gems in the silken tray. Like an incredulous child he touched them. They were magnificently real.

In the center lay blazing the great Erosite gem—the Flaming Jewel itself. Priceless diamonds, sapphires, emeralds ringed it. In his hands he held nearly four millions of dollars.

Gingerly he balanced the embazoned case, fascinated. Then he replaced the empty tray, closed the box, thrust it into the bosom of his flannel shirt and buttoned it in.

Now there was little more for this excited young man to do. He was through with Clinch, Hal Smith, hold-up man and dish-washer at Clinch's dump, had ended his career. The time had now arrived for him to vanish and make room for James Darragh.

For by this time the Grand Duchess of Esthonia—Rica, as she was called by her companion, Valentine, the pretty Countess Orloff-Strelwitz—must have arrived in New York.

He lifted the bridle from the horse's neck, divided curb and snaffle thoughtfully, touched the splendid animal with heel and toe.

As he centered on into the wide forest road that led to his late uncle's abode, curiously led him to wheel into a narrower trail running east along Star Pond, and from whence he could take a farewell view of Clinch's Dump.

Alders still concealed the house across the lake, but the trail was already coming out into the starlight.

Suddenly his horse stopped short, trembling. Its ears pricked forward. Darragh sat listening intently for a moment. Then with infinite caution, he leaned over the caudle and gently parted the alders.

On the pebbled beach, full in the starlight, stood two figures, one white and slim, the other dark.

The arm of the dark figure clasped the waist of the white and slender one.

"Eve! Jack Stormont! What the devil are you doing over here?" Stormont walked slowly up to his own horse, laid one unsteady hand on its silky nose, kept it there while daisy, velvet lips numbed and caressed his fingers.

"I knew it was a cavalcade," he said quietly. "I suspected you, Jim. It was the sort of crazy thing you were likely to do. . . . I don't ask you what you're up to, where you've been, what your plans may be. If you needed me you'd have told me."

"But I've got to have my horse for Eve. Her feet are wounded. She's in her night-dress and wringing wet. I've got to set her on my horse and try to get her through to Ghost Lake."

Darragh stared at Stormont, at the ghostly figure of the girl who had sunk down on the sand at the lake's edge. Then he scrambled out of the saddle and handed over the bridle.

"Jack, your tunic breeches are soaked; I'll be glad to chip in something for Eve. . . . Wait a moment."

He stepped into cover, drew the morocco box from his gray shirt, shoved it into his hip pocket.

Then he threw off his cartridge belt and hunting coat, pulled the gray shirt over his head and came out in his undershirt and breeches, with the other garments hanging over his arm.

"Give her these," he said. "She can button the coat around her waist for a skirt. She'd better go somewhere and get out of that soaking-wet night-dress."

Eve, crouched on the sand, trying to wring out and twist up her drenched hair, looked up at Stormont as he came toward her holding out Darragh's dry clothing.

"You'd better do what you can with these," he said, trying to speak carefully. . . . "He says you'd better chuck—what you're wearing."

She nodded in flushed comprehension. Stormont walked back to his horse, his boots slopping water at every stride.

"I don't know any place nearer than Ghost Lake Inn," he said. . . . "Except Harrold's."

"That's where we're going, Jack," said Darragh cheerfully.

"That's your place, isn't it?"

"It is. But I don't want Eve to know it. . . . I think it better she should not know me except as Hal Smith—for the present, anyway. You'll see to that, won't you?"

"I don't understand, but—it's all right—whatever you say, Jim."

"I'll tell you the whole business some day. But where I'm going to take you now is into a brand new camp which I ordered built last spring. It's within a mile of the State Forest border. Eve won't know that it's Harrold's property. I've a hatchery there and the State lets me have a man in exchange for free fry. When I get there I'll post my man. . . . It will be a roof for tonight, anyway, and breakfast in the morning, whenever you're ready."

"That's the thing to do, then," said Stormont bluntly.

He dropped one sopping wet sleeve over his horse's neck, taking care not to touch the saddle. He was thinking of the handful of gems in his pocket; and he wondered why Darragh had said nothing about the empty case for which he had so recklessly risked his life.

What this whole business was about, Stormont had no notion. But he knew Darragh. That was sufficient to leave him tranquil, and perfectly certain that whatever Darragh was doing must be the right thing to do.

Yet Eve had swum Star Pond with her mouth filled with jewels. When she had handed the morocco box to Quintana, Stormont now realized that she must have played her last card on the utterly desperate chance that Quintana might go away without examining the case.

Evidently she had duped the case before she left her room. He recollected that during all that followed, Eve had not uttered a single word. He knew why, now. How could she speak with her mouth full of diamonds?

A slight sound from the shore caused him to turn. Eve was coming toward him in the dusk, moving painfully on her wounded feet. Darragh's flannel shirt and his hunting coat buttoned around her slender waist clothed her.

The next instant he was beside her, lifting her in both arms.

As he placed her in the saddle and adjusted one stirrup to her bandaged foot, she turned and quietly thanked Darragh for the clothing.

"And that was a brave thing you did," she added, "—to risk your life for my father's property. Because the morocco case which you saved proved to be empty does not make what you did any the less loyal and gallant."

Darragh gazed at her, astounded; took the hand she stretched out to him; held it with a silly expression on his features.

Don't Baby Corns—Use "Gets-It"

Thousands of people have only themselves to blame for corns, blisters, etc. Trimming and "treating" cutting and paring merely makes a bad matter worse. Millions of others are wiser. They know how easily and quickly "Gets-It" removes and peels corns and calluses off—in one piece. What education and common sense are doing for thousands

THOUSANDS of people are learning that they cannot drink coffee or tea at supper time and get a good night's sleep.

Experience has taught these men and women to recognize that the caffeine in both coffee and tea is often responsible for a wakeful, restless night, and a nervous "next day."

If you have reason to believe that coffee or tea is causing your headaches, insomnia or nervousness, why not drink rich, refreshing Postum instead.

Postum is the delicious golden-brown cereal beverage that many former coffee-drinkers prefer for its satisfying flavor alone.

Ask your grocer today for Postum and begin serving this delicious beverage at meal times—and see how well you like it.

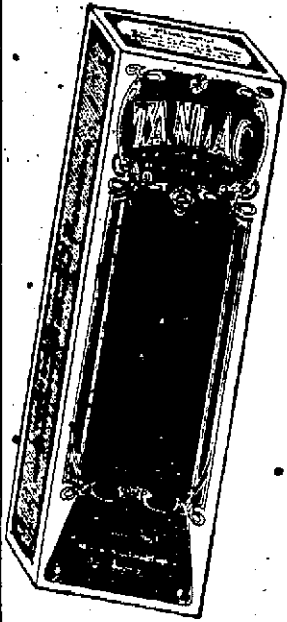

Postum comes in two forms:—Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling fully twenty minutes.

Dear Friends:

It is always pleasing to receive proper recognition in the accomplishment of something worth while, especially so, if such comes within the scope of art or science.

The very splendid results arising out of your efforts and accomplishments in your competitive contests with Jackson folks recently, who have had previous engagements, is outstanding, and I just wanted to say that the Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, at their meeting today voiced their highest praise for your wonderful accomplishment, bringing to Portsmouth an honor that is more enduring than industry, because of its refined human possibilities, a most wonderful and natural gift indeed.

Personally, and in behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, I congratulate and encourage you.

Very respectfully,
ADAM FRICK, President.

NEW WINTER COATS

An early selection from a complete assortment would be wise.

It seems there is nothing Fashion could do to make coats more beautiful than they are this season.

So much thought has been put into the designing of sleeves, in developing materials, to trimming with fur in a way that are at once captivating and practical.

Materials are varied: Geron, Shuwsheco, Panvehine, Evora, Mafvella and such fabrics.

Collars of fox and squirrel—large, enveloping and warm, top the coats in a most luxurious manner. They should please the woman of most discriminating tastes. Other coats use no fur, but are wonderfully smart of cut and beautiful in material, workmanship and lining.

Gun User Held To Grand Jury

Held to the grand jury on a bond of $500 was the decision of Mayor Wm. E. Newberry, of New Boston, this morning when Lee Brown, negro, came before him to answer to a charge of shooting with intent to kill E. Johnson, negro, also of New Boston.

About three o'clock yesterday afternoon, E. Johnson, colored, an employee of the Whitaker-Glessner Co., went to the New Boston police station and filed an affidavit against "Posey" Brown, brother of Lee Brown, proprietor of a restaurant and boarding house near the mill. Johnson asserted that Brown, drew a gun on him following an argument over a board bill. Brown was arrested by Officer Harvey Neal and was charged with possessing concealed weapons, but a careful search revealed that he did not have a gun.

Johnson did not have any witnesses to prove his contention and Brown was released after both men were given a warning by Mayor Newberry to adjust their differences amicably and to keep out of further trouble.

The police say that later in the evening about six-thirty o'clock, Johnson went back to the boarding house to renew the argument. They state that as a result, Lee Brown shot a revolver and fired one shot at Johnson, but missed. Brown then fled but was found by Officer Harvey Neal, who was sent in search of him after Johnson made a complaint to the Mayor. Officer Neal says that he located Brown in a field just a short distance from West Avenue. He further states that Brown, when he saw that he was being followed, threw his gun away. After searching in the field for some time, Officer Neal found the weapon, a .32-20 Smith and Wesson, five inch, blue steel barrel revolver. The magazine was filled with five loaded and one empty shell.

Stirling Mount and Jordan Martin, two other negro employees of the Whitaker-Glessner plant, were arrested in connection with the affair.

Blood Pressure Down Five Degrees

Mrs. Charles Whitney of Troy Tells How To Quickly Reduce High Blood Pressure

"I have suffered from high blood pressure since last July with a pressure of 228. I would have those severe headaches that come with high blood pressure, such as dull throbbing pain and ringing in my ears. I had terribly dizzy spells, at times so bad I would have to grab hold of something to keep from falling. I would become very weak and often would faint away. Finally, I became nervous and could not sleep nights.

"I heard of NORMA and decided to give it a trial and I'm certainly glad I did. Why you know the first day my pressure went down five degrees and I slept fine, getting a good night's rest. Those dizzy spells have left and I haven't had a weak or fainting spell since the first few doses. To be rid of those headaches alone is worth a fortune for they were torture. I can recommend NORMA highly to anyone suffering as I did." Mrs. Charles Whitney, Troy, N. Y., Feb. 25, 1922.

NORMA is the new discovery for high blood pressure that Fisher and Streich is selling so much of these days. It was first prescribed by a Buffalo physician with remarkable results. All first-class druggists sell and guarantee it.—advertisement.

ORATORY BY ASPIRANTS FOR SEATS IN PARLIAMENT FILLS THE LAND

LONDON, Oct. 26.—(By the A. P.)—Oratory by aspirants for seats in the new parliament fills the land. Thirteen hundred candidates have up to now entered the campaign for membership in the house of commons. Of these about 425 are conservatives. In round numbers labor has 400 candidates in the field, the Asquithian or free liberals 300 and the Lloyd Georgeans, or national liberals 300. The little Welshman who lost his post as premier last week is vigorously striving to increase the number of candidates under his banner.

To obtain an outright majority in the new parliament, any party would have to elect 315 candidates.

The laborite manifesto holds a prominent place in all the morning papers today. They emphasize its leading points in heavy type headlines, showing how unpalatable the labor platform is to most of the full editorial to the manifesto. The Morning Post calls it a dreary document.

Davis Scores Cox And Donahey For Alleged Extravagance

SOMERSET, O., October 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Entering the campaign in defense of his administration which has been bitterly assailed by A. V. Donahey, Democratic candidate for governor, and other Democratic campaign speakers, Governor Davis in his first speech here today severely arraigned Cox and Donahey, then state auditor, for alleged extravagance in connection with the London prison farm project.

Governor Davis asserted that his predecessor had approved plans calling for an expenditure of $12,000,000 on the London prison farm project, but that he, Davis, had scrapped these plans and provided others.

MRS. HATFIELD SABINA, OHIO

In Pitiable Condition When She Began Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sabina, Ohio.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness and irregularity. I was weak and nervous and could hardly stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal. I was this way for about a year and had tried several medicines and had a physician, but to no avail. My sister was taking your medicine and finally induced me to try it. I now feel fine and can do my housework without any trouble at all. You can use this letter for the sake of others if you wish."—Mrs. WELDON G. HATFIELD, R. R. 3, Sabina, Ohio.

Housewives make a great mistake in allowing themselves to become so weak and nervous that it is well-nigh impossible for them to attend to their necessary household duties. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken when you first notice such symptoms as nervousness, backache, weakness and irregularity. It will help you and prevent more serious trouble.

Market News

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Continuation of yesterday's professional selling of industrial stocks took place at the opening of today's stock market and imparted a decidedly reactionary tone to most of the list. Oil, steel and equipment shares were offered heavily, the decline in active issues ranging from 1 to 3 1/2 points. Rails offered better resistance to selling pressure, Pennsylvania climbing to 10 3/4, the highest in four years in response to a resumption of a six per cent dividend. Reading also opened slightly higher, but soon cancelled its gain and dropped a point below yesterday's close. Norfolk and Western and Delaware Lackawanna and Western also sold off a point. The drop in oil shares was led by Mexican Petroleum which dropped 3 1/2 points, while Standard Oil of California and New Jersey and the Pennsylvania issues yielded 1 to 1 1/2. Heavy weak spots were Standard Oil of New York, General Electric, Consolidated Gas, American Locomotive and Coca-Cola, the declines ranging from 1 to 2 points. One of the few outstanding strong spots was Houston at up 1 1/2.

Professional offerings continued as the morning progressed with the result that the early loss of active issues were materially extended. Consolidated Gas dropped 3 1/2 points, Standard Oil of California and New Jersey, Baldwin and Famous Players 1/2 each and American Smeltering 1/2. American Car and American Express two each. Marking up of New York Central to 101 caused a slight rebound but the higher levels pointed fresh offerings and prices again tended downward. Inability to attract an outside following and the further depreciation of the foreign exchange and bond prices, the new government 4 1/2's dropping to a large amount at 99.50, discouraged any concerted efforts to support the list. All money opened at 4 1/2 per cent.

Absence of public interest, higher money rates and further depreciation of foreign exchange and U. S. government bonds, particularly the new 4 1/2's induced further extensive speculation and short selling in the stock market. Prices of active shares ranged 1 to 4 points. Industrial stocks were again the hardest hit but railroad shares participated more extensively in the reaction.

Chicago Grain And Provision

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—Although prospects of enlarged receipts led to something of a decline in wheat prices today at the outset, the market soon scored an advance. Orders which have been issued regarding a better distribution of box cars were interpreted as meaning that facilities for quicker movement of grain to primary terminals might soon be in operation. However, bulls were favored by higher quotations at Liverpool and there was continued lack of rain in the winter crop belt. The opening, which ranged from 1/2 cents off to 1/4 up with Dec. and May both at 1.11 1/2 to 1.11 was followed by a slight general setback and then by an upturn all around. Corn fluctuated with wheat. After opening 1/2 cent lower to a like advance, Dec. 65 1/2@66 1/2, the corn market wavered a little and then made a moderate gain.

Prices closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 1/2 cents higher, with Dec. and May both 1.11 1/2 to 1.11 1/2.

Oats were firm from the start, opening 1/2 to 3/4 cent higher Dec. 41 to 41 1/2 and later continuing to harden. Provisions reflected a downturn in hog values.

The close was unsettled at 1/2 off to 1/4 advance, Dec. 60 1/2.

Court House

Sentenced To Reformatory

"Guilty" of cutting with intent to wound as charged in the third count of the indictment, was the verdict of a jury in Common Pleas court Wednesday afternoon in the case of Bud Pendleton, and Judge Thomas after promptly overruling a motion for a new trial sentenced the prisoner to a term of not less than one year in the Mansfield Reformatory.

The offense of which Pendleton was convicted, occurred on the night of July 30 last, when during a little difficulty at the Shepherd restaurant on Tenth street, the defendant slashed Frank Blosser, Murray street young man, in the back with a knife, inflicting four separate gashes with a total length of forty inches.

Pendleton claimed that Blosser attacked him and made a plea that he acted in his proper self-defense, but the jury evidently from its verdict took a different view. The accused was defended by Attorney B. F. Kimble.

The will of David A. Carter, timber dealer and farmer of Tardion, who died recently at his home at Mt. Joy, filed for probate Thursday, leaves his estate to his three children. Neoma, a daughter, is given the farm known as the Oppy place at Mt. Joy, in addition to the household goods and a cow, and Archie, a son, is given the farm known as the Charles Brewster place situated in Camp Creek township, Pike county, containing 119 acres, besides a team of mules and a wagon, while Paul, another son, is bequeathed the farm known as the Jeweaver place at Camp Creek, containing 124 acres, subject to a mortgage of $800 which Paul is directed to pay when due. Paul is also given a team of horses, wagon and an Oakland automobile.

Ray Thompson, of Tardion, is nominated as executor by the will which was executed by the testator on September 11, 1922, in the presence of Ora E. Foster and Tommie Scott, witnesses.

Excused Subject To Call
At the conclusion of the Pendleton trial in Common Pleas court Wednesday afternoon, Judge Thomas excused the petit jury from further service subject to call. It is quite likely there will be no further jury trials until after the election.

To Visit Batavia
Attorney B. F. Kimble will go to Batavia, Monday to appear in the trial of a case in the Clermont county Common Pleas court.

Adjudged Insane.
Strange circumstances surround the poor mental condition of Ernest H. Baldridge, 24 years old, son of William R. Baldridge, merchant at Bloomfield, adjudged insane at an inquest held in Probate court Thursday and ordered committed to the Athens state hospital.

Prior to a few days ago when the young man was found wandering in the hills back of Huntington, had he shown any symptoms of mental trouble. He was employed near Huntington as a school teacher, and had abandoned his automobile on a road close to where he was found roaming the hills. His relatives are at a loss to account for his present sorry plight.

Wife Seeks Divorce.
Nora Middaugh charges neglect and cruelty in her suit for divorce and alimony with custody of their two minor children in a suit brought in Common Pleas court Thursday against John Middaugh, of Sciotoville, whom she married in October, 1917.

In her petition filed through Attorney Harry Ball, the plaintiff says that Middaugh has failed and refused to support her and their children and declares that he has laid violent hands on her, asserting that on numerous occasions during the past few weeks he has struck her without cause, besides, she claims, that on a recent occasion compelled her to get out of a sick bed to wait upon him, causing her to fall in a faint. Furthermore, the wife alleges that the defendant spent much of his money for drink and fast living, curses her violently and calls her foul names, has no respect or regard for her and says his cruel and continuous harsh treatment of her has made it impossible for her to have much regard for him. The plaintiff further avers that about a month ago Middaugh ordered her to leave him and says that since that time she and her children have lived separate from him.

A temporary injunction was allowed to issue restraining the defendant from disposing of their household goods.

Dry Meetings
Judge A. Z. Blair will speak at a Union Meeting at South Webster next Sunday night, explaining the wet amendment, and Miss Pearl Eichelberger will speak at the same time at Scioto Furnace. Judge Harry Ball, in addition to speaking at the meeting on Turkey Creek next Sunday afternoon, will journey to Bear Creek in the evening where he will speak to a crowded house at the United Brethren church.

Other meetings have been planned for White Glavel E. E. church on Monday night, October 30th, with special speakers from Portsmouth, at New Church on Wednesday night, Nov. 1st, and at Pinkerton on Thursday evening, November 2nd.

Soviet Troops Hunt American

SIMBIRSK, RUSSIA October 26.

(By the Associated Press.)—Soviet soldiers have joined in the search for Philip J. Shield, the American relief worker who has been missing from his quarters here for ten days. While the red troopers are seeking traces of him along the valley of the Volga, the government authorities are seeking to interest the populace in the hunt.

Announcements flashed on movie screens here and in nearby cities tell of the reward for finding Shield, give a description of him, and ask anyone knowing of his recent whereabouts to volunteer the information. Never before has this method of searching for a missing man been tried in Russia. It was at the request of Joseph Dalton, district supervisor of the relief organization in Simbirsk.

CHUMS DIE; SCENT DEATH PACT
BATTLE CREEK, MICH., October 26.—(By the Associated Press.)—A flower plucked from the grave of a boy friend, incalculable grief at his death, and a note in which she said she was ill were pointed to here today as a possibility having a bearing on the sudden death of Gertrude Nesman, 14. Her death Tuesday was from asphyxiation. Her friend, Myrl McGuire, died a week ago from a similar cause. Myrl and Gertrude were classmates in high school.

Parents of both the students today said they doubted the existence of a pact and believed the deaths were accidental, notwithstanding the similarity of circumstances involved. Corner City Gray, however, continued his investigation and stated he might call an inquest.

SENATOR CURTIS ILL.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Senator Curtis of Kansas, assistant Republican floor leader of the senate is ill here from digestive disorder which led attending physicians to fear an operation might be necessary.

The senator has been confined to his home for several days.

FULL OF FIGHT AND DETERMINED TO WIN OHIO STATE TEAM ENTRAINS FOR MINNEAPOLIS

Meet Strong Gophers There For First Time Saturday

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 26.—(United Press)—Several months ago this column announced that the major league ball players were forming a union to secure a more equitable form of contract with the club owners and to obtain a representation on the national advisory council.

At that time all the high officials of baseball ridiculed the reports in public statements, saying that the players would not be foolish enough to shoot at the well known goose.

During the fall meeting of the magnates in Chicago, they looked upon the reports more seriously, however, and they discussed the subject at length.

Shortly after the meeting, reports began to spread that Raymond J. Cannon, the Milwaukee attorney who defended several members of the "Black Sox" and who was retained by some of the players to form the organization, was going to use the union to force the "Black Sox" back into baseball. Other stories were circulated that the players were going to call a general strike next spring for increased salaries.

Perhaps the club owners had nothing to do with the circulation of these reports but it seemed rather coincidental that they all started after the meeting of the magnates.

Cannon denies that the players have ever considered a general strike or an organized effort to boost salaries. Many of the leaders in the movement are satisfied with the money they are drawing at the present time, but they want a contract that will guarantee them justice when they start to slip.

The "ten day" clause in the existing form of contract between the players and the club owners has always been a subject of dissatisfaction to the players. In effect it is no contract at all because the players have no recourse outside of an appeal to Commissioner Landis.

Here again the players object to the personnel of the national advisory commission, which deprives them of representation or a voice in settling arguments which concern only the players and the club owners.

So far, Commissioner Landis has wisely held aloof from salary arguments, but he will be forced into the presence of a player on the board who will not make his task any more difficult.

Cannon claims that he was retained only to get the money coming to several of the "Black Sox" and that he never entertained the notion of getting their jobs back.

In spite of the general sentiment against them, most of the fair minded fans agreed that Comiskey had no legal or moral right to withhold the money that was coming to the wayward players under the contracts which he had signed.

Names of the players interested in the organization of the union and the players who have signed for membership have not been made public and it will be a surprise when they are published. The organization will not lack dignity when the membership is made known.

Propaganda coming from unknown sources is being directed against Cannon for no just reason. He is a young attorney who fought for his education and is now fighting to get ahead in his profession. He accepted a retainer with the "Black Sox" because he felt they had a just case and he should not be condemned for fighting for his clients.

Real Scrimmage Practice For State

Coach Wilce has sent his State players into hard scrimmage practice every night this week, so they would be in shape to give Minnesota a real battle next Saturday. Four coaches have had the team in charge in the hopes of improving their conditioning, which was very weak against Michigan. The State line last Saturday was outsmarted, outcharged and outgeneraled.

CAMP TALKS ABOUT KIPKE'S ABILITY

COLUMBUS, October 26.—(United Press)—While in the city, discussed the case of Kipke quite at length. Someone asked him why he was such a "fine player" in his opinion, in spite of his weighing only 132 pounds when the game started and 144 when he quit his big day's work.

Co-ordination and a lion heart, was Walter's answer. Camp thought co-ordination of nerve energy and muscular force was a great thing, but a real heart more valuable. Kipke didn't have a leak in his attack or defense. He was everywhere and will go down in the opinion of many besides Camp as the greatest half-back (in his Saturday's form at least) that has been seen in the middle west in a few seasons. This includes a lot of territory and covers a swarm of very excellent performers, but what must have Kipke been made of to take the battering he took; do the punting; make half the secondary defense tackles and score 15 of the 19 points in the game? His lecture must have been of leather and he must have had the spirit of a wild cat.

Offered Field

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—(Midwestern Press)—Hospitality has been extended to the Princeton football team which meets Chicago here Saturday in the golden classic of the west. Although Bill Roper and his Tigers will arrive just one day in advance of the game and will have the privilege of Stag field for practice, Northwestern University's field has been offered as a training camp also. Dan Erns, director of Athletics at Northwestern, turned the offer to Coach Roper at Princeton.

The Maroons are spending much of their time this week in trying out new plays against the freshmen. If all the plays Coach Stagg has taught the Maroons are used against Princeton, the game will be a right memory test for the Chicago players.

Final Practice

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 26.—(By the A. P.)—The lineup of the Princeton football eleven which will open the game with Chicago University Saturday in the windy city has practically been determined according to Coach Bill Roper.

Final practice was held this morning. The squad of 35 men, four coaches and three managers was to depart on a special train at 4:35 p. m. for Chicago. A light work-out will be held on Stag Field Friday afternoon.

MAY KNOW SATURDAY

What sort of a forward passing attack Michigan possesses won't be known until some one comes along that thoroughly threatens to win a game from the Wolverines, and that may be this, very coming Saturday when the troublesome Illinois team goes to Ann Arbor.

WILMINGTON VS. CHILlicothe

The Chillicothe 11 and Wilmington 11 teams were scheduled to clash in Chillicothe this afternoon.

THE LOCAL "BIG WIND" IS BLOWING

RATHER tough on the dear people but we suppose like the itch and other things they have put up with the local "big wind" alias Joseph T. Mickelthwait at least once every two years or else abolish elections. For Joseph and his voice simply must be heard or Joseph will "bust" and that would be a calamity indeed. Anyway our "big wind" is running amuck on the republican hustings and we hear that at Harrisonville he got wound up so that they had to pull his coat tails and force him down into a chair so that Congressman Kearns would have time to, at least, pronounce the benediction. We haven't read Joseph's speech yet but we suppose, of course, that he told the voters how the local paving brick trust owned him body and soul, and how having no personal interest in either Gallia or Second streets, he went to the Mayor's mass meeting and told how the ignorant people and property owners of Second and Gallia did not know what they wanted. We suppose too that Joseph told of his intimate knowledge of county affairs gathered during four years in the Prosecutor's office. We hope Joe took the voters into his confidence. If he shies at doing so we may enlighten him as a few things one, Joseph T. Mickelthwait did not do when Prosecutor.

THE FARMER—"THE GOAT"

ANOTHER tariff has "just growed," comments The Country Gentleman. It's a way tariffs have of doing. Theoretically the tariff is a means of raising Federal revenue by an indirect tax on the consumer and also a shock absorber to soften the impact of foreign competition on languishing domestic industries. But practically it's a game of grab bag in which everybody tries to get his share while the getting is good. So it has been with the present tariff. There was no general plan in the making of it, no symmetrical design or framework by which the claims of various interests and of the consuming public and the paying public might be measured and given their proper values. Almost every industrial and manufacturing interest merely dropped into the tariff hopper a statement of how much it expected to get out of it. And now they are all crowing that they got theirs.

What does this presage for farming? Is it a good omen. Almost every agricultural product is on the dutiable list, from lemons to alfalfa seed, from apples to crocus bulbs, from cheese to cabbage. But does all this mean anything to the farmer? Will he be substantially benefited by the tariff? The politicians say yes, especially those who have championed the new tariff schedules. In this connection the farmer may as well get ready to be the goat, for the tariff makers already have an alibi prepared in case of protests. They will tell the public that this is a farmer's tariff; that if any complaint is made about the operation of its schedules the farmer is to blame. The manufacturer will point to the 30-cent duty on wheat, the 31 cents on scoured wool, the free admission of potash, the duties on cherries, buttermilk and gooseberry cuttings, and ask the farmer how he can be otherwise than grateful for all these favors.

But while the grower of long-staple cotton is protected by a duty of seven cents a pound, the manufacturer gets a duty up to 34 cents a pound on cotton yarn. And the smile of the sheepmen over 31-cent a pound on scoured wool may not be so broad when he buys a suit of woolen clothes under specific and ad valorem duties amounting to 85 cents to $1.30 a pound. In other words, the farmer's request for tariff protection on his products was welcomed with almost unholy glee by the manufacturer, who proceeded to ask and get a much higher protection than he would otherwise have had the face to demand.

All this comes, of course, from the accepted principle of tariff making that whatever protection the crude product receives, the manufactured article must be granted an additional compensatory rate to maintain its advantage. But the farmer is a heavy consumer of manufactured articles. No tariff heretofore has authorized our manufacturing industries to collect more than $1,500,000,000 above cost of production. But it is estimated that the present schedule authorize our industries to collect in the form of compensatory tariff rates five per cent upon the eighty billions invested in farming, or probably somewhat more than the farmer will make out of his own investment.

Thus to all appearances the burden of the present tariff will fall too heavily upon the farmer. Moreover, if we build a trade wall so high as materially to reduce imports from European countries, those countries will be physically unable to buy our farm products and will turn to South America for more favorable trade opportunities. Naturally that will not expand the world markets for our farm products.

The nation that the farmer is one of the chief beneficiaries of the present tariff should be combated in the interest of truth and fairness. His request for protection has merely served as an excuse for other interests to get more protection than they deserve. The tariff of 1922 is convincing evidence, if any were needed, that the whole business of making tariffs should be taken out of the hands of ephemeral politicians and instructed to a permanent body of trained experts.

PLEASE LET US KNOW

CONGRESSMAN Kearns is talking tariff and roasting Henry Ford in his speeches here. He is not saying much about how he voted to saddle higher taxes on the farmers of his district, how he was the fair haired boy in congress of the fertilizer trust. Nor is Mr. Kearns saying much about his luke-warmness on the Ohio river improvement project, as evidenced by his wet-blanket speech at the time our citizens had a celebration in honor of the opening of the dam below town. Our Congressman is going to talk to Portsmouth people tonight. Supposing he tells them something he has done for them during his eight years in Washington aside from mailing them garden seeds once a year.

And this stranger within our gates, who comes as the buddy of Colonel Thompson, republican candidate for governor, will he not recite for us the thrilling tale of Colonel Thompson's famous march on Hanging Rock with state militia some years ago, when there was a strike on at the iron furnaces. We positively yearn for details.

Let us have it in choicest of language, provided of course, that we are right and Col. Thompson led the charge that resulted in killing a cow.

County officials are still reticent about answering our query as to whether or not a state examiner or inspector did not get real curious about some "bridge repairs". We will now begin asking them in turn. So today we will ask County Auditor Colburn if he ever accompanied a man in state employ, when the latter expressed a desire to do a little investigating and checking up. Speak up, Roy.

NOTICING MR. SHEPPARD AGAIN

GAIN referring to Prosecuting Attorney Sheppard and his expenditures "Under Section 3004", we observe that during the month of September one Chester Penix drew through Mr. Sheppard, the sum of $75 from the county treasury under this section. Looking up this gentleman we find that he is one of Mr. Sheppard's favorite prohibition spies and at such times as he is not "detained" elsewhere, he is hanging about Mr. Sheppard's office or else in deep and intimate consultation with him, telling him all the latest gossip gathered by prowling around the back yards of the citizens of the county.

Just at present Prosecutor Sheppard is deprived of the pleasure of the society of his friend, for Mr. Chester Penix is unavoidably "detained" at the county jail, his address being Cell No. 7, Tier Two. Chester was picked up by county prohibition officers upon the charge of bootlegging and Squire Morgan handed him a fine of $100 and costs when he was found guilty. To be plain the gentleman who has been drawing considerable sums of the tax payers' money for turning in tips, by the grace of our prosecuting attorney, is himself in jail for bootlegging.

Looking further still into the history of Mr. Chester Penix, we find that he has a criminal record dating back to 1914. In that year he was indicted for assault and battery, the May grand jury making the indictment. He was not brought to trial and the indictment was continued off the docket in June, 1915. Why was not Penix tried?

Again we find that within the past few weeks Chester Penix was arrested three times within a many weeks by the police on charges of giving checks on banks in which he had no funds. As we understand the Matthews law, this constitutes a penitentiary offense. Yet through the good offices of Prosecutor Sheppard Penix got off without punishment and resumed his side line with the Prosecutor.

We are told that this man has failed to provide for his family and that his wife has been compelled to go to work in order to earn a living.

Now we submit that the employment of such a notorious character and the lavishing of the people's money on him does not go far towards increasing the respect of our citizens for law and law enforcement. We grant that only a certain type of citizen would want to earn money as an informer on his friends and neighbors, but there are men and women who are availing to do this, either through fanatical belief in prohibition or through desire to earn money, who do not have criminal records. Certainly the people of Scioto county do not expect the chief law enforcement officer of the county to employ and protect jail birds, and take their affidavits as gospel truth. What are we coming to when such things are permitted in a civilized community?

We again ask the citizens of this county if they do not think the time has come to sweep the whole office holding oligarchy out of the court house. Think it over fellow citizen.

Premier Says Britain Needs Rest And Tranquility

GLASGOW, Oct. 26.—(By The Associated Press)—Prime Minister Andrew Bonar Law in discussing his policy told a meeting of the West Scotland Unionist Association today "my strong belief is that this nation needs above everything else, rest and tranquility and my policy will be a negative one in this sense."

The government's policy, said the prime minister, would be to leave the recovery from the war to the untrammelled initiative of the men and women of the country.

Doc Koko's KOLUM

SERVICE
There's something which is greater far
Than modern cults or creeds;
It is to all humanity,
An answer to its needs.
It builds our cities, railways, ships,
Makes fruitful barren soil;
This something is called "Service,"
And it is akin to "Toil."

"Serve others as you would be served"
That's how I'd like to say
The teaching which the Golden Rule
Says in another way.
And, though I know a lot depends
Upon the point of view,
If charity begins at home
Why shouldn't service too?

I mean, not only helpful deeds,
Kind words or courtesies,
But where and how we buy our nails,
Our shoes, our groceries,
We go when we want favors done
To someone whom we know,
So in all fairness I should think
That's where our trade should go.

The merchant who supplies our needs
Or shows us latest modes,
The editor who advocates
Improvements—better roads,
These men are doing all they can
To serve us every day,
And we can show we understand
By serving in our way.

Never Saw a Campus

"How did you know that Perkins didn't go to college?"
"Why, he said he knew Babe Ruth when she was a chorus girl."

Fast Work

A lady who had just received an interesting bit of news said to her little daughter: "Marjorie, dear, auntie has a new baby, and now mamma is the baby's aunt, papa is the baby's uncle, and you are her little cousin."

"Well," said Marjorie, wondering, "wasn't that arranged quick?"—Boston Transcript.

We counted forty-nine autos, over again $1,800 apiece, parked around the court house today, and we kin remember when if a fellow bought a phaeton he wuz suspected of havin' jiggered the money. Eatin' downtown is growin' more 'n more general as women become more 'n more 'out-lightened."

BRAIDED FUR
A smart suit of tuxedo brandcloth is trimmed with bands of mole. The mole is heavily braided in soutache braid and braid fastenings adorn the front of the coat.

Even Scarcer
"Here's a man found nine pearls in an oyster stew. Wonderful, hey?"
"Oh, fairly startling. I thought you were going to try to lead me to believe he found nine oysters."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Tolerance
"Do you feel resentful toward a man who disagrees with you?"
"Not at all," replied Senator Sorghum: "so long as I can see to it that he remains associated with the minority."—Washington Evening Star.

Dangerous
The conjurer in the village school room had invited any man from the audience to step upon the platform, and a youth had responded.
"Now, friend," said the conjurer, "I suppose you consider it a matter of impossibility for me to make the rabbit in that box on the table pass into your coat-tail pocket?"

"I don't know about impossible," was the reply, "but I wouldn't do it if I were you, sir."

"Oh, you'll be in no danger, I can assure you," said the slight of hand man airily.

"I wasn't thinking about myself," the youth answered calmly. "I was thinking of the rabbit. I've got a couple of ferrets in my pocket."

Stranger in Town

"Can you get any likker about here?"
"No, sir. But there's a place over yonder where they sell mighty powerful tea."—From Judge.

Those Leaky Pens

I'm somewhat wiser now, than when I bought my dollar fountain pen. It spills a pint to every letter—
"A gusher" would describe it better.

No Common Man

While Chief Justice Taft was delivering a lecture in Portland, Ore., his friend, Bishop Keator, entered the auditorium and the ex-President immediately sandwiched this story into his talk.

The Bishop was absorbed in a book while seated in a Pullman car. The porter scrutinized him very carefully, and said, "Scuse me, Senator, anything ah kin do fo' yo', sah?" The Bishop replied in the negative.

The porter returned again soon, and asked, "Shall ah open de window, Guv'nor?" The response once more was, "No, thanks."

A third excursion he ventured, "Scuse me, Kul'ncl, kaint ah brush yo' off?"

The Bishop looked up. "Listen, porter," he said, "I'm not a senator, or a governor, or a colonel; nothing but a poor common Episcopal bishop."

"Yassah, Bish'p," replied the darky, "but all jes' don' kneewed yo' wuz one o' dem face cards."—Judge.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, October 26.—A group of intellectuals who are conspicuous at theatrical first nights have apparently decided that to be unkempt accentuates their brilliancy. They wear loose fitting clothes, caps and soft work shirts and are always in need of a barber's attention.

During the entracte they fill their pipes and stroll about the lobby permitting their pearls of wisdom to fall among the bourgeoisie. Not one of them has ever done anything particularly noteworthy in the arts, yet they are such persistent "big rollers," puffing one another in various journals to which they are attached, that the public stands a bit in awe.

A certain illustrator gave a dinner one night recently to which the group was invited. The guest of honor was a young English novelist who has achieved distinction. He came in correct dinner clothes. He and the host were the only ones properly dressed.

Out Of Sight

A profiteer was bragging about his newly acquired automobile. He ended his eulogy by declaring: "It runs so smoothly that you can't feel it; so quietly that you can't hear it; it has such perfect ignition that you can't smell it, and as for speed, why, my boy, you can't see it!"

His friend looked startled.
"Why," he exclaimed anxiously, "how do you know the car is there at all?"

Convincing

"Your honor, I was not intoxicated."
"But this officer says that you were trying to climb a lamp-post."
"I was, your honor. A couple of pink crocodiles had been following me around, and I don't mind telling you that they were getting on my nerves."—Safety Pin.

The Man Who's Never Late

And yet he loses lots of time.
The man who's never late,
Although his promptness is sublime,
The man who's never late;
In fact his life is full of care,
For when he turns up anywhere
The man who said he'd meet him there
Is usually late.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED

YOU never make people conscious of your clothes, jewels or the advantages you have had which were possible to you because you had the money to secure them.

Rather you relieve self-consciousness in others by detracting attention from these things and impressing people with your charm and your thoughtfulness and the innate character you have developed.
